COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS AT A WAYSIDE INN—SOMETHING TO PUT IN A GRIPSACK.

"Gentlemen, I almost envy you the positions you fill; your experience of the world, your knowledge of business; the changing sights you see, and all that, you know."

This warmly expressed regret fell from the lips of an elderly pleasure tourist, last August, and was addressed to a semicircle of commercial travellers seated on the porch of the Lindell Hotel, St. Louis, Mo.

"Yes," responded a New York representative of the profession, "a drummer isn't without his pleasures, but he runs his risks, too—risks outside the chances of railroad collisions and steamboat explosions."

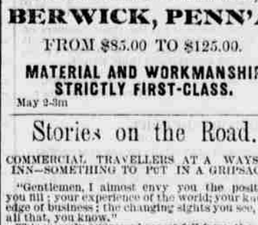
"What risks for instance?"

"This, for instance," said Mr. W. D. Franklin, who was then traveling for an Eastern house, and is known to merchants in all parts of the country: "The risk—which indeed amounts almost to a certainty—of getting the dyspepsia from perpetual change of diet and water and from having no fixed hours for sleeping. I myse f was an example. I say was, for I am all right now."

"No discount on your digestion?" broke in a Chicago dry goods traveler, lighting his cigar afresh.

"Not a quarter per cent. But I had to give up traveling for a while. The dyspepsia ruined my paper. Finally I came across an advertisement of PARKER'S TONIC. I tried it and it fixed me up to perfection. There is nothing on earth, in my opinion, equal to it as a cure for dyspepsia."

Messrs. Wilcox & Co., of New York, the proprietors, hold a letter from Mr. Franklin stating that precise fact. PARKER'S TONIC aids digestion, cures Malarial Fevers, Heartburn, Headaches, Coughs and Colds, and all chronic diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. Put a bottle in your valise. Prices, 50c. and $1. Economy in larger size.



The Emperor Louis Napoleon smoked only the finest cigars the world could produce. Prof. Horsford says the Emperor's cigars were made specially for him in Havana from leaf tobacco grown in the Golden Belt of North Carolina, this being the finest leaf grown. Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is made from the same leaf used in the Emperor's cigars, is absolutely pure and is unquestionably the best tobacco ever offered.

Thackeray's gifted daughter, Anne, in her sketch of Alfred Tennyson, in Harper's Monthly, tells of her visit to the great poet. She found him smoking Blackwell's Bull Durham Tobacco, sent him by Hon. James Russell Lowell, American Minister to the Court of St. James.

In these days of adulteration, it is a comfort to smokers to know that the Bull Durham brand is absolutely pure, and made from the best tobacco the world produces.

Blackwell's Bull Durham Smoking Tobacco is the best and purest made. All dealers have it. None genuine without the trade-mark of the Bull.

SELECT STORY.

AN ADVERTISEMENT.

BY PEARL.

"Well, I am sure," sighed Mrs. Reynolds, smoothing the folds of crape on her black dress, "I don't know what we are to do. The landlord wants his money, and the butcher had the impudence to tell me this morning that he could not serve us longer unless the account was settled. Etheline," she continued plaintively, turning toward her daughter, who stood in the bay window eagerly scanning one of the advertising columns of the Herald. "I do think you might pay a little more attention to your mother."

"What is it, mamma?" the girl asked, raising her bright gray eyes from the printed sheet.

"My dear, I simply asked you how we are going to manage to get money to pay all these people."

"Why earn it, of course," her daughter answered.

"Well, that I should ever live to see the day," the good lady said, drawing a long breath, "that a child of mine would suggest such a thing to me. The idea of my earning my living. I am shocked, Etheline, that knowing the state of my health you should mention anything of the kind. I am sure when your d-e-a-r p-a-p-a w-a-s l-i-v-i-n-g," the lady sobbed behind her black bordered handerchief, "t-h-a-t h-e—he always s-h-i-e-l-d-e-d me from—from—"

Further speech was cut short as two girlish arms were thrown around her neck, and a sweet voice cried:

"Mamma — mamma! I did not mean that you should work. Dearest mamma! you shall stay here and keep this pretty nest warm for your birdling, who, when her wings are weary can fly safely back to the parent home. Mamma, listen to this," the girl exclaimed, springing to her feet and catching up the discarded paper.

As Mrs. Reynolds straightened her widow's cap which her daughter's impetuous embrace had disarranged, the girl read the following advertisement in clear, ringing tones:

WANTED.—A housekeeper to take entire charge of a widower's house. Only one who is competent to manage a large retinue of servants need reply. Address
S. STEWART M—, New Jersey.

"There, mamma," Etheline said gleefully, "isn't that splendid? If I am fortunate enough to get the position, you need not trouble your dear old head about the sordid demands of the butcher and that horrid landlord.

"Etheline!" Mrs. Reynolds interrupted in a shocked voice. "How can you even for one moment think of such an improper arrangement?"

"Why, mamma, I do not see anything improper in the advertisement, and you know, mamma, that I thoroughly understand the management of servants. Remember that owing to your ill-health after my return from boarding school, I superintended all the domestic arrangements of our large house before papa lost his money, and I am sure, mamma, since papa died, I have managed nicely in this little cottage, with one maid-of-all-work, so that I am competent to control either a large or a small number of servants. Do let me try this once," the girl said coaxingly, taking her mother's hand in hers, and patting it softly, as one would a child's.

"But, dear, suppose he is some young man who—who—"

And the elder lady broke off abruptly for want of a suitable word to express her somewhat hazy idea.

"There, mamma, you are mistaken; instead of a gay Lothario, he is a forlorn old gentleman with silvery hair, and a kind benevolent face."

"Well, I only hope your sketch will be a true one," her mother said peevishly.

Ethline's only answer was a weary sigh as she seated herself at the writing desk and prepared to answer the advertisement.

* * * * * *

Within the following week there ensued quite a lengthy correspondence between our heroine and S. Stewart, the result being that at the close of a glorious May day there alighted from the cars at the small country station of M——— a graceful petite figure, attired in deep mourning. As the iron monster with a puff and a snort started the girl looked wistfully around the deserted platform, as if in search of some one. Before she could address the station master, who was lounging in the doorway of the small depot, and who was gazing curiously at her and inwardly admiring the pretty foot that peeped tantalizingly from beneath the girl's short traveling dress, a braughan drawn by a superb pair of horses dashed up, and as the coachman drew rein, the footman alighted and crossing quickly to the waiting girl, touched his hat.

"Is this Miss Reynolds?" he inquired respectfully. Receiving an answer in the affirmative, he continued: "Beg pardon for being late, miss—but one of the horses cast a shoe on the way, and we were compelled to stop at the blacksmith's."

In another moment Etheline was seated among the soft cushions, whirling rapidly along a sweet-scented country lane.

After a drive of perhaps an hour, during which the sun set and the dreamy twilight settled down over a landscape which exhibited features of peculiar beauty, the vehicle entered a spacious park, and then speeding along a broad avenue, came at last to a grand old mansion built in the Elizabethan style of architecture, from the open door of which great flashes of light fell upon the velvety lawn without. Then the carriage suddenly stopped, and Etheline realized, with a feeling somewhat akin to terror, that she had reached her journey's end.

She was immediately ushered by a liveried servant into a brilliantly lighted drawing room. A stately gentleman of about 40 rose from his seat,

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6, 1884.

Powell Clayton of Arkansas, who was selected by the National Committee for temporary chairman of the Republican Convention at Chicago, was defeated when his name was brought before the Convention, by 44 votes. John R. Lynch, a colored man of Mississippi was elected temporary chairman. It has been the general custom for the National Committee to select the chairman and the convention ratify it, but the departure from this custom this time was brought about partly by friends of President Arthur, and also with a view of capturing the colored votes at the November election.

The Philadelphia Record, followed by the other city dailies, is making vigorous and just warfare on the anthracite coal monopolists and transportation companies, who have run up the price of coal from $2.50 to $4 a ton before and during the early years of the war to $6.50 at this time. The tax is an onerous one and its severity falls upon the poor, and to maintain such prices, by diminishing the supply, coal monopolists have just ordered a suspension of mining for half the month of June. The high prices discriminate not only against the householders, but the manufacturers of the eastern part of the state, and the worst of this is that the anthracite is sold cheaper to rival interests outside the state than to Philadelphia manufacturers. The dangerous power of monopoly was never more dangerously or injuriously exercised than it is now being exercised by this conscienceless coal monopoly.—Ex.

The law officers of Lackawanna county started in with a great flourish a week or two ago to prosecute the fifteen hundred of two thousand participants in a brutal prize-fight. The Judge issued his instructions to the District Attorney to let no guilty man escape. The District Attorney, it is said, at once hired detectives to collect evidence against those present and by the stir that was made it might have been supposed that the Lackawanna Jail would be packed like a sardine box with the prominent citizens who were to be sent up if they did not pay the fine imposed by law. Had all the fines been collected there would have been enough money to run the Lackawanna county government for several years without any taxation of property. Great things were promised at first, but the scheme was too big. First, the Judge weakened and suggested that perhaps it would be just as well to indict the principals and not disturb the two thousand spectators. The outcome of the whole thing was that the grand jury failed to indict even the two principals because they could not secure sufficient testimony, although the Judge said there were persons before the grand jury who could have given all the information necessary to secure an indictment. In view of this fact, Judge Handley's remark that justice is slow seems eminently appropriate, but when he adds that it is sure the lovers of justice will hope that justice everywhere does not have to depend upon the sort of officers that attend prize-fights and cannot be made to testify to the facts in court.—Phila Times.

G. A. R. AGAINST GRANT'S PENSION.

The Coleman Asbury Post of Ohio forwarded to the House of Representatives, the other day, the following preamble and resolutions, which its members had just adopted:

Whereas, The Senate of the United States has passed a resolution to place Gen. U. S. Grant on the retired list of the army, with full rank and pay of General of the Army:

And whereas, The said Gen. Grant has been highly honored by the people of the United States, insomuch that he has been twice elected to the honored position of President of the United States, for which services as President Gen. Grant received the magnificent sum of $300,000;

And whereas, The wealthy and generously disposed citizens of the cities of New York and Philadelphia have subscribed and placed in trust a further magnificent sum of $250,000 for the said Gen. Grant, from which he receives an annual income of over $15,000;

And whereas, The said Gen. Grant retired from the army of his own free will, and in perfect soundness of body and health; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby offer our remonstrance against the passage of said bill, and condemn the action of each and every Senator who voted for it, be he Democrat or Republican.

The motive which urged these ex-soldiers of the State in which Gen. Grant was born to take this action appears from a subsequent resolution, that the passage of the bill would be an "outrage upon the memory of those gallant comrades who fell in the front, and whose widows are to-day eking out a miserable existence on the beggarly sum of $8 per month, and upon his ruined and crippled comrades whose small pensions are no just compensation for the loss they have sustained." The project is also declared to be an outrage upon all those thousands of soldiers "who, through the exposure incident to camp and army life, received disabling and permanent injuries to health and happiness," and are now drawing pensions ranging from two to six dollars a month for disabilities, and the many thousands who, having "like Gen. Grant returned home sound in body and health," are "too patriotic to ask for or even expect a pension." Not content with this spacial remonstrance agaiest the proposed retirement of Gen. Grant, Coleman Asbury Post also passed a general resolution in regard to army retirements. It declared that "the whole system of the retirement of army officers of sound body and health is pernicious and detestable," and "portentous of monarchy, and the entering wedge for the ultimate overthrow of those principles for which our revolutionary fathers fought."

How far these views may be shared by other members of the Grand Army does not appear, as the Coleman-Asbury resolutions only profess to give the opinions of members of that post. That repeated attempts, however, have been made in Congress of late years to extend the retired list of the army beyond its legitimate functions cannot be questioned. It must inevitably create a prejudice against the retired list to divert it from its original and proper purpose.

Up to the time of going to press, Thursday afternoon, no nominations have been made by the republican convention John B. Henderson, of Missouri, was made permanent chairman.

The Crops and Trade.

Whatever evil this spring may have brought to stock gamblers, the farmers have good reason to be content with it, so far as the promise of their crops is concerned.

The weather has been generally favorable to agriculture, and throughout the country the early indications as to the harvest are all cheering. In the Northwestern States the present outlook for the spring wheat is more than usually encouraging. Moreover, the acreage under cultivation has been increased, and unless drawbacks occur during the next month, an exceptionally large crop is expected. Elsewhere wheat is looking finely, and, with some exceptions in Texas, the outlook for cotton is encouraging.

If the crops turn out as well as they now promise, it is reasonable to expect that by next autumn we may begin to see the revival of trade for which we have been so long waiting. Whether prices on the stock market have or have not declined to their lowest level, it can hardly be doubted that those of merchandise are dragging on the bottom, and that the general conditions of business now favor the coming revival. There is no inflation there, but the shrinkage has already taken place.

Nor has the Wall street disturbance seriously affected general trade, which may be depressed, but cannot be called unhealthy. Failures do not increase, and merchants continue to do a hand-to-mouth business, which is safe and reasonably profitable in the aggregate.

The bottom prices now prevailing will help the recovery when it comes, and a great harvest may start a demand next fall which will usher in the prosperous times to come. Even now, despite a declining stock market, decreased exports, and three years of steady shrinkage, the condition of trade is far from being as gloomy as merchants accustomed to the great profits of former periods are wont to think it.

We look for an active and fairly profitable trade this autumn, and expect that with the beginning of the next year the skies will be so unmistakably bright that even hypochondriacs will be compelled to rejoice.—N. Y. Sun.

ITEMS.

The wheat crop for this year is estimated at over 500,000,000 bushels, or an increase of 50,000,000 bushels over the average yield for the past five years. It is the surplus of our products—let us never forget—that make us richer, multiplies the comforts of life, and adds to the rewards of labor.

The case of E. S. Steltz, of Philadelphia, against the borough of Girardville, was on trial in the Schuylkill county court all last week. Saturday the jury brought in a verdict in favor of Steltz for $500 damages. In December, 1881, Steltz's wife fell into a ditch in Girardville, and received an injury which rendered her a cripple for life. Steltz sued the borough for $10,000 damages.

The people of Louisville, who were able to make and sustain an exposition last year with credit, will repeat the experiment this summer. The second display will be open to the public August 16 and continue until October 25. With their experience they naturally hope it will be an improvement over the first attempt. The railway facilities are good and they have an enterprising and active people as constituents. With these advantages and careful, economical management, there is every reason to believe that the managers will command continued success.

The following states will hold elections previous to the election of November: Alabama votes on August 4 for a Governor and State officers, Tennessee follows on August 7, Arkansas on September 1, and Vermont one day later. Then comes the more significant because more doubtful, election in Maine on September 8, with the interesting incidental vote on constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic, which the State's statutes have so conspicuously failed to suppress. Georgia will elect a Governor on October 1. On October 14 the Ohio and West Virginia elections occur. The political interest of the series culminating in Ohio, where twenty-one Congressmen will be chosen.

The anthracite coal producers are devoting a good deal of attention to increasing the trade in their staple at the South. The mildness of the climate and the poverty which followed the close of the war seemed to preclude the possibility of much demand for the Pennsylvania staple, but increasing prosperity and the persistent efforts of the coal producers are having some effect in this direction. The quantity sold last year in the South only aggregated about four per cent. of the total production, but even this small modicum is not to be disregarded, especially as the most of it can be shipped during the early months of the year when the demand is light from other quarters. The coal for the South is nearly all for domestic use and and the trade is chiefly confined to the seabord cities. As the wealth of the interior increases, however, the demand from the interior towns is growing

Notice to Correspondents.

In order to save many communications from the waste basket we make the following suggestions to local correspondents: Use only one side of the sheet, and write as plain as possible; give only the local news that is of some interest to the community, such as accidents, improvements, marriages, deaths, matter relating to schools and churches, business enterprises, changes of residence, and the like. What appear to be jokes at the expense of others, and personal mention giving only one name or initials or a nickname, will not be printed under any circumstances. Such items often give offense, though none may be intended. The full name of the writer must always be given, but will not be printed unless requested.

ANON.

Seybert to Pay the Costs.

Among the cases presented to the Grand Jury last week were seven returns for keeping trippling houses made by Constable Fenstermacher, of Salem township, against William Gerton, George Barnard, Homer Britton, A. D. Seeley, James Low, William Trigo, and Reuben Moyer. When the cases were examined by the Grand Jury it turned out that the parties were all residents of Columbia county. The returns had been made by the constable on information given by D. F. Seybert. The jury promptly ignored the bills and ordered Seybert to pay the costs. He being in the court house at the time was promptly arrested and taken before the court by whom he was sentenced to pay the costs in each case or give security to do so within ten days and stand committed until the sentence is complied with. He succeeded in finding some one to become his security for the payment of the costs and was set at liberty.—Wilkes Barre Record.

Centre.

Creasy and Hess are running their saw mill to full extent.

On Saturday 105 persons, consisting of young and old gathered at Hess' Island to have a general fish. Some fishing, shooting mark and boat riding. Simon Sitler caught the most fish in number but Stewart Henry the largest. Wm. Hidlay left with the honor of being the best marksman. They intend making some improvements before meeting again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ern Sloan and son drove through Centre on Sunday.

Among the visitors at church on Sunday were Mr. and Miss Campbell from Sunbury, M. L. Keller from Lightstreet, Messrs Fisher and Miller from Mainville, and Miss Henry from Danville.

Some of the young folks attended the festival at Afton on Saturday evening. I think they must have succeeded by their pleasant conversation on Sunday.

Some of the citizens spent Monday eve at J. L. Crawford's in Lightstreet, to remind "Gilly" that he was 17.

Benton.

MAY 30th 1884.

Pennington Post G. A. R. No 283 Headquarters Fairmount Springs, Luzerne county, Penna., this day decorated the graves of their fallen comrades by committee of five at the following cemeteries, viz: Mossville, Fairmount Springs, New Columbus, Hamiline, St. James, Stillwater, Waller and St. Gabriel. Then as per arrangement the several squads met the balance of the Post at Benton. After lunch the line of march was taken up enroute for the cemetery preceded by the Benton Cornet Band, Sunday School and a large concourse of people where the ceremonies as adopted by the department of Penna. was performed and the graves strewn with flowers. Benediction by Rev. D. M. Kinter. Then all assembled at Master's Grove. Comrade D. K. Laubach was elected chairman, came forward with a few well timed remarks and with thanks for the honor conferred. Rev. D. M. Kinter of Stillwater was intoduced and delivered the oration, a masterly production and so skillfully delivered that all his hearers felt pleased. He was followed by Revs. Messinger and Savage. Their remarks were impressive and instructive well fitting the occasion. Adjutant Rimer made some remarks for the extension of the order and a vote of thanks tendered the speakers and band for their attendance. Broke ranks and wended their way homeward.

Secretary.

Stillwater.

The frost last week did considerable damage in this region to garden truck, and some corn was badly frozen. It was a regular blizzard.

A little 3 year old child of Wm. Lawton's of Jackson died very suddenly last week from the effects of a bean which lodged in its wind-pipe.

Decoration day was duly observed at Benton under the auspices of Pennington Post of the G. A. R. It was quite a success and I trust that some of the Benton scribes will furnish you with a full report.

Mr. T. L. Stackhouse and Elvira Stiles called at the Christian Parsonage on the evening of June 1st, and left as Mr. and Mrs. Stackhouse. No cards.

The people along Fishing creek road do not object to sportsmen enjoying themselves along the very beautiful and pleasant stream of Fishingcreek, but they do, at least some of them do, emphatically object to drunken rowdies yelling and insulting people as they pass along. A word to the wise &c.

Mr. John Zahner had a team run away the other day that might have resulted disastrously to him and the team, but fortunately neither were hurt.

C. B. McHenry has the finest field of wheat in the valley. He is one of our best farmers.

Most of the trout in Fishingcreek are very fine this season. Were the law enforced there would be more go back into the stream than into the fish basket. It is a pity that they could not be left to grow a couple of years; then there would be some sport for the angler.

Mifflin.

The County Sunday School Convention was enjoyed by all, and resulted in good, as more interest is manifested in the work and two new schools have since been organized in this township.

The festival on Friday and Saturday evening was a success and judging from appearances, a harvest for the hotels. For shame boys, stop and think!

Messrs. Chas. Hess of Mt. Carmel and Geo. W. Welsh of Watsontown were among the visitors of this place last week.

Lue Snyder left this place for Chicago on Monday the 2nd inst. Expects to be nominated of course.

Owners of property on Sauer Kraut street are looking for a good rain to dispose of the plants.

The new School Board was organized on Monday with the following officers: President, Chas. Gearhart; secretary, E. Swepenhiser; treasurer, Samuel Nuss.

The attention of pedlers and hawkers is called to the law of this county by notices posted in this township. Should they fail to heed, some of them no doubt will pay by experience.

We have another enterprise in town in the way of a new butcher. Mr. R J. Wintersteen will doubtles do a Rushing business.

Centralia.

The small-pox patients, we are pleased to note, are coming around nicely, and will be well in a few weeks. The disease is still confined to the one house, and Burgess Dyke and the Board of Health are doing everything imaginable to keep it from spreading. Several dogs have been shot by the Burgess for going too near the infected house, and tar, gum and pine logs are kept burning in front of the building as disinfectants. Dr. Gwinner has been appointed physician with a salary of $150 per month.

A young son of James McBrearty, fell down a flight of steps on Monday and broke his arm.

The High School entertainment of last week was a success in every particular. The play was very interesting and being interspersed with singing, dancing, etc., made it doubly so. Those of the little ones who participated acquitted themselves in a manner, very creditable to themselves and teachers. The singing by Messrs. Kelly, Lake and Curran, and dancing by Mr. O'Neal was very good. The proceeds of the entertainment will be used to furnish books for the library.

Richard Brennan who has been under treatment at the Miners Hospital for a hurt received some time ago, is, we are pleased to say, able to resume work again.

Jack Crawford, a well known temperance advocate, of town, and a butcher from Mt. Carmel had a dispute a few days ago, about a little affair of their own, which resulted in a fight. Crawford was best man but the butcher made him wish he was second best, as he had him arrested and made him furnish bail to appear at court.

Dr. Gwinner is given a wide berth by every one since he took the small pox victims in hand. Even his best friends give his office the go by.

The collieries have not worked any this week, and hundreds of men and boys can be seen on our streets. This is one great evil the operators should remedy, viz:—Work every day during the cold months of winter, and half time in the summer, when it should be the reverse by all means.

Rev. Benton of Harrisburg took charge of St. Ignatius' church, on Sunday. Rev. Field is still sick in Philadelphia.

A large number of the Jerseymen employed in the tunnel at the Continental left here on Monday for home.

The electric light poles are going up rapidly in Ashland, and from present indications the town will be illuminated by electricity in six or seven weeks.

Berwick.

Mr. George McHenry of this place was married to Miss Fry of Nescopeck on Saturday evening last by Rev. W. Cattell, of Reynoldsville, Pa.

Rev. W. Cattle, of Reynoldsville, at one time pastor of the Baptist church of Berwick, has been spending the past week with friends here. He preached in Baptist church both morning and evening last Sunday.

Mr. S. T. Dimmick, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. has arrived and entered upon his duties.

Ground will be broken in the course of a few weeks for the erection of the new Y. M. C. A. hall. This is expected to be a fine building and will certainly add greatly to the appearance of our little borough.

As Berwick does not possess a public park, the cemetery is the resort of many who seek a cool and shaded spot in which to commune with Nature. There is no doubt but that our cemetery presents as beautiful an appearance as any in the county, for which O. H. P. Kitchen deserves praise.

The frosts last week it is feared, did considerable damage to garden truck. J. Hoft reports nearly all of the handsome and costly flowers, which he had just planted in the yard of Mrs. Lizzie Jackson, to have been destroyed.

Loud mouthed politicians hereabouts are waxing warm.

Decoration Day here was observed with due respect to the occasion. A parade in which about one hundred little girls dressed in white and the different orders and lodges participated was one feature of the day. Late in the afternoon a quiet game of base ball was played between Berwick and Bloom which resulted in favor of the former, the score being 19 to 3. Considerable drunkeness was noticed, yet no disturbance occurred.

WILL WONDERS EVER CEASE?

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 9, 1883.

Mr. Phelps, Dear Sir—I consider it my duty to tell you how much good your Rheumatic Elixir has done me. For ten years I had Rheumatism in my left arm and last year it extended through my whole body and limbs. I could hardly turn in bed, and several days I could neither feed myself nor walk without sticks. I took everything that I could hear of, but got no better, and I began to get discouraged. Mr. Good, the druggist, advised me take Phelp's Rheumatic Elixir. I did so, and after having taken the first bottle I felt satisfied that it was helping me. When I had taken three bottles I was entirely cured. I feel very grateful for what your medicine has done for me. I will cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with Rheumatism. You can use my name as you wish in behalf of your Elixir.

Yours, with many thanks,

FARM NOTES.

Use the knife at once on the appearance of black knot on plum or cherry tree.

Rich ground, strong plants and good culture are the surest remedies against lice and worms infesting cabbage.

It is claimed that three-fifths of all the cattle in this country, outside of milch-cows, are west of the Mississippi river.

In the western part of Florida 500,000 acres of land have been secured by a company of Scotch capitalists.

Set a tomato plant in the center of cucumber, squash and melon hills, and it will keep off many varments.

Growing strawberries by the matted row, and raspberries by the hedge row system, is safest for northern sections.

If you would have quick and efficient work, use good tools and keep them clean.

A little oatmeal added to water makes it a little more palatable for man and beast.

Where a field is overrun with weeds frequent summer plowing is the only remedy.

It is estimated that seventy-five per cent. of the cattle in America are scrubs or natives.

Do not set out verbena plants so that they are too close. Four or five feet should be given to them. They are wonderful spreaders.

Some years the Summer is none too long for Lima beans. A start of several weeks may be secured for them by planting the seed under glass, or inverted sods a foot square, transferring them to the garden, when hot weather sets in.

The best Western farmers, instead of planting pumpkins among corn, "devote an acre or more to pumpkins and cultivate them with a two horse cultivator as long as possible and then let them run." It is a beautiful sight to see a field "all pumpkins," where they lay so close that a man could walk over the whole patch without once putting foot on the ground. They grow better, larger, ripen earlier, are sweeter and more solid than when shaded by the corn, and can be gathered by driving around and around the field."

THINNING FRUIT.—Mr. B. Hathaway, one of Michigan's most successful fruit-growers, speaks thus in regard to thinning fruit: "I have much faith in the effect of thinning fruit as tending to equalize the productiveness, or rather the production, of fruit every year. The same end may, in a measure, be attained by judicious pruning, and it is more generally practised, probably will be done, ten times where thinning is attempted once. Either from my thorough pruning, or other cause not apparent, I have always been what is called fortunate in having a fair crop of apples, even in seasons of comparative failure."

PLUM ON PEACH.—A writer in Rural World says: "One-half the plum trees now handled are on peach roots, but they are worked under ground. If grafted in the nursery they should be grafted one or two inches below the surface, and when transplanted, set a little deeper so as to avoid the peach borer, which does not bother the plum wood. I once had Imperial Gage on peach stocks, planted deep, that grew to be very large trees and bore well. Even our wild varieties will take on the peach, sure as the Wild Goose, Weaver, Forest Garden, etc. It is said that Wild Goose plum does better on peach than on plum root, and I have reason to believe it from experience."

Pumpkins among Corn.

Although some farmers reject the long and well sustained practice of planting pumpkin seed among corn, on the ground that it detracts as much from the corn product as in the profit it adds to the stock of provender, still it is the general method pursued to get a crop of pumpkins. Besides, from our own experience and observation, we have had and seen as good crops of corn with as without pumpkins. It may appear at first though as if the land could not sustain two full crops of anything; but this is not so in all cases, as in those where the two crops do not require the same manurial stimulants, inasmuch as a portion, at least, that one will take up will not be required by the other. Of course it requires very good land to raise pumpkins; but even in this case, though an extra crop of manure may be needed to be applied to the corn ground where pumpkins are to be planted, there will be a saving in the element of time, and instead of one crop from the land in a year, we gather two. The objection that some make, that the vines shade the ground, while the ground requires all the heat it can get, is not well founded, as the corn itself furnishes perfect shade without the vines, which really can add little more to injure the crop. It is far more probable that the objectors to this double crop, who fail in getting all they want, owe their lack of success to poor land or negligent cultivation, and we suggest that they should change their system of manuring and cultivating more, and then wait and see.—Germantown Telegraph.

How to Transplant.

There is no part in gardening that requires more skill than the transplanting of plants so as to retard their growth as little as possible. As a preliminary to this operation, the young plants should be uncovered if in hot beds and exposed to the full power of the light air that they may be hardened and ready for the change. The ground about the roots should be kept thoroughly wet for a short time before the plants are removed, as this causes the earth to cling to the roots more firmly, and gives them life and vigor. Most plants do better if transplanted in cloudy or rainy weather, but if this cannot be done they should be set out at nightfall and shielded for a few days from the direct rays of the sun. The cavity for the roots should be made large enough to admit of their insertion without craming or crowding together. Let the soil around be thoroughly loosened and pulverized so that the new roots to be formed will have a free growth. When the roots have been set in the cavity pack some fine soil directly about them nearly to the surface and fill on top with rich, loose earth. Water frequently until the plants begin to grow again. By exercising a little care, such plants as cabbages, celery, rutabagas and tomatoes may be transferred to open ground with no perceptible change in their rate of growth.

Thousands Hastened to their Graves!

Relying on testimonials written in vivid glowing language of some miraculous cures made by some largely puffed up doctor or patent medicine has hastened thousands to their graves; believing in their almost insane faith that the same miracle will be performed on them, and that these testimonials make the cures, while the so called medicine is all the time hastening them to their graves. We have avoided publishing testimonials, as they do not make the cures, although we have

of them, of the most wonderful cures, voluntarily sent us. It is our medicine, Hop Bitters that makes the cures. It has never failed and never can. We will give reference to any one for any disease similar to their own if desired, or will refer to any neighbor, as there is not a neighborhood in the known world but can show its cures by Hop Bitters.

A LOSING JOKE.

A prominent physician of Pittsburg said to a lady patient who was complaining of her continued ill health, and of his inability to cure her, jokingly said: "Try Hop Bitters!" The lady took it in earnest and used the Bitters from which she obtained permanent health. She now laughs at the doctor for his joke, but he is not so well pleased with it, as it cost him a good patient.

FEES OF DOCTORS.

The fee of doctors is an item that very many persons are interested in. We believe the schedule for visits is $3.00, which would tax a man confined to his bed for a year, and in need of a daily visit, over $1,000 a year for medical attendance alone! And one single bottle of Hop Bitters taken in time would save the $1,000 and all the year's sickness.

A LADY'S WISH.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By using Hop Bitters that makes pure, rich blood and blooming health. It did for me as you observe."

GIVEN UP BY THE DOCTORS

"Is it possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing but Hop Bitters, and only ten days ago the doctors gave him up and said he must die, from Kidney and Liver trouble!"

How Watch Cases are Made.

In 1875, thirteen men comprised the entire working force used in the manufacture of the James Boss' Gold Watch Case. Now over five hundred are employed, and the number is constantly increasing. The reason of this increase is this: In the James Boss' Gold Watch Case all the metal in sight and subject to wear is solid gold, while the remainder, which only lends strength to the case, is of stronger metal than gold, giving gold where gold is needed, and strong, elastic metal where strength and elasticity are needed, a combination producing a watch case better than solid gold and at ONE-HALF the cost.

TRADE MARK.

Over 200,000 of these cases have been sold, and every jeweler in the country can testify to their quality and merit.

LUDINGTON, MICH., Dec. 8, 1883.

E. W. Marsh, of the Democrat, bought a Jas. Boss' Gold Watch case 18 years ago, and carried it until a short time ago, when I purchased it, and sold it to a customer. The case showed no signs of wear, except that natural to any case, and I am satisfied can be safely guaranteed for an hundred years more. I have sold the James Boss' Gold Watch Case for many years, and the parties who bought the first ones are carrying them to-day, as well satisfied as though they had bought a solid gold case costing twice the money. I regard them as the only cases of the kind a jeweler should sell who desires to give his customers the worth of their money or values his reputation.
